sion This Afternoon

Cleveland, O., June 12. (By the A. P.)—Nomination of Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa as the Republican candidate for Vice-President became a strong possibility shortly after noon today, with announcement by William M. Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager, that Kenyon would be acceptable.

The announcement began to spread through the convention and conference began, looking toward the consolidation of strength behind the former Iowa Senator. Mr. Butler himself dispatched agents to ascertain sentiment among the delegates.

The plan proposed by leaders was to recess the convention after the nomination of President Coolidge to meet again tonight with a view to giving the Kenyon movement an opportunity to get under way.

The inauguration in determined manner of the Kenyon boom followed reiteration by Senator Borah of Idaho after a confidence in Washington with President Coolidge that he did not and would not accept the nomination and after Mr. Butler had been in communication with the White House.

Consolidation of the Kenyon strength was met by gathering of the forces opposed to the Iowa man, and indications of a fight on the convention floor began to develop.

The arrangement to recess the convention until night was abandoned, however, in favor of the earlier arrangement for an hour and a half recess.

Opposition to Kenyon immediately after the convention recessed a group of party leaders went into conference on the Vice-Presidential situation. The name of Representative Everett Sanders of Indiana was coupled in the discussion with those of Judge Kenyon of Iowa and Senator Curtis of Kansas.

One group opposing Judge Kenyon, consisting of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Representative Pennington of New York and Secretary Mellon held what was understood to have been a protest meeting in a committee room in the basement of the convention hall.

While the balloting on the presidential nomination was in progress, Secretary Mellon and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania got into communication by telephone with President Coolidge with a desire to halt the Kenyon movement. Mr. Butler also talked to the convention hall made no endeavor to rescind his previous statement that Kenyon was acceptable.

LIGNITE RATE DECISION IS COMING SOON

Railroad Commission Head, Back From Washington,
Predicts Quick Action

An early decision in the North Dakota lignite coal rate case, in which carriers asked increases in rates on coal from North Dakota mines of about 50 percent, will be made by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the North Dakota Railroad Commission, chairman of the state commission, said on his return from Washington where he sat at the arguments in the case and with Interstate Commerce Commissioners considering the decision.

Among those at the Washington hearing were Stanley Houch, representing the lignite operators and the attorney-general's office of North Dakota; Dan Kelley and Judge Dillman, representing South Dakota; J. W. Goodman of Grand Forks, representing that city; Stanley Washburn, president of the North Dakota Lignite Coal Operators Association; D. P. Lyon, representing the railroads, and Frank Lyon, representing the Northwestern Coal Dock Association.

Preparations For Chicago Trial

Chicago, June 12.—Preparations for the trial on August 4 of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, confessed kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, school boy, are being made by prosecution and defense, with insanity expected to be the issue.

Although defense attorneys headed by Clarence Darrow declared the defense had been given insufficient time to prepare for the trial it will begin at once to lay the ground work for its insanity plea, it was indicated. Meanwhile the prosecution continued to question witnesses before the grand jury relative to the mental state of the accused.

Little credence was given by state attorneys to the story of a girl, who rushed into the courtroom while the youths were arraigned, and told prosecutors she and another girl had been automobile riding with Leopold and Loeb on the night of the killing. Her story was in direct variance with the confession of the boys, although conforming to the alibi they gave when first taken into custody.

Drowned Man's Body Is Found

Fargo, N. D., June 12.—The body of R. B. Tomlinson, who was drowned May 31 in Lake Franklin, near Pelican Rapids, Minn., while on a fishing trip, was found at 8 p. m. Wednesday by a party of 22 searchers from Fargo, Detroit, Fargo Falls and Pelican Rapids who have been dragging the lake the last 10 days.

COOLIDGE AND WIFE HEAR CHEERS FOR HIM OVER WHITE HOUSE RADIO

Washington, June 12.—President Coolidge, sitting before a radio receiving set in the White House today, heard the swelling chorus by which he was nominated to lead the Republican party in the next campaign.

With Mrs. Coolidge, the President was in the White House when the vote was taken. It was said he would make no formal statement at this time on the work of the Republican convention.

During the hour preceding his nomination President Coolidge heard the details of the convention proceedings. He gave no outward manifestation when the voting was completed.

LOCAL CHURCH'S HISTORY TOLD AT GATHERING

Presbyterians of Bismarck
Celebrating 51st Anniversary of Church Founding

FOUNDED HERE IN 1873

Four Members Inducted Into Church at Its Final Formal Organization

The growth of the Presbyterian church in Bismarck was reviewed in "Historical Night" exercises at the church last night. The program opened the celebration of the fifty-first anniversary week of the church, which was founded in June, 1873.

Rev. Postlethwaite sketched rise and growth of the Presbyterian church in the world, telling of its early history and gradual development through the English isles, the foundation and growth in America, and explained the nature and work of the different boards of the church.

There are four main divisions of responsibility, he explained: 1. direction of work in the United States; 2. foreign missionaries; 3. board of education which supervises Presbyterian colleges; 4. board of ministerial relief which attempts to provide for aged ministers and dependents.

L. E. Crawford, acting curator of the State Historical Society, speaking on the Synod of North Dakota, traced its development, and explained the division of the state into Presbyteries, one of which is the Bismarck Presbytery. The Bismarck church, when first founded was under the direction of the Presbytery of St. Paul and the Synod of Minnesota, which had been set off from the Synod of Iowa in 1860.

Tells of History
J. L. Bell, speaking on "The Local Church and Its Pastors," spoke of having examined the records of the church, both the minutes of the board of elders and trustees from which the history of the local church can be secured. He told of the organization of the church in 1873, and the love and admiration of old timers for Rev. I. O. Sloan, the first pastor.

At the first service at which the informal organization was completed, June 15, 1873, four members were received, among them Col. C. A. Lounsbury, founder and for many years editor of The Bismarck Tribune. At the first communion service in the spring of 1874 among the new members was H. F. Douglas, who is a well known business man of Minneapolis at the present time, and an occasional visitor in Bismarck.

Mr. Douglas is much interested in the celebration, and sent a generous check to Rev. Postlethwaite to help defray the expenses. Among others taken in the church at the time, Mr. Bell said, was Nathan Dunkelberg, who was a well known figure on Bismarck streets until a few years ago, when he went to California, dying in a soldiers' home in 1920. There also was Mrs. William Pye, well known among old timers who died in August, 1922, at the home of her son, S. M. Pye, formerly a Bismarck business man, in Los Angeles.

Pastors Will Educated
Mr. Bell spoke briefly of the work of successors to Rev. Sloan, and from recollections of old timers and records told of the building of the main part of the church, started in 1884, completed in 1892 under Rev. Jas. M. Anderson.

Mr. Bell in closing emphasized the fact that all the pastors of the church were men of education, many of them graduates of Princeton Theological Seminary or of Union Theological Seminary in New York, and some had also studied in Scotland and England.

The program last night included musical numbers.

This afternoon a women's meeting is being held in the church. Friday night there will be an organ recital.

EXPECT MANY AT CAMP MEET

Jamestown, N. D., June 12.—Between 1,000 and 1,200 people from over the state are expected in Jamestown for the annual camping meeting of the Jamestown Holiness Camp Association which will be in session here from June 19 to 29 at the eight-acre camp ground called Benish Park. The camp meeting will be preceded by a two-day Bible conference for young people. Special workers from Iowa, Georgia, Ohio and Oregon will be here, including Rev. R. A. Danford of Eugene, Ore., district superintendent of the southern Oregon Methodist Conference and former Methodist pastor at Jamestown and Bismarck.

Grand Forks, June 12.—State Senator P. O. Thorson died at a local hospital at 2:15 o'clock this morning from bladder trouble, for which he underwent an operation 10 days ago.

Besides being prominent in North Dakota politics, Senator Thorson was founder and publisher of the Normandan, a Norwegian weekly paper, and Scandinavia, a monthly magazine. Funeral services probably will be held next Monday.

State Senator Peter O. Thorson was a native of Wisconsin, having been born in Scandinavia, Waupaca county, that state, August 2, 1867. He was of Norwegian descent, both his parents having been born in that country. Commencing his education in the public schools he took a course at the Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Normal and finished with a term in the LaCrosse Business College. He lived in Scandinavia and Black Falls, Wisconsin, until 1888, in which year he moved to North Dakota and settled in Grand Forks.

Since 1893 he had been the publisher of the Normandan, one of the most widely read Norwegian journals in the Northwest, and also conducted the Normandan Printing Company. Mr. Thorson was secretary-treasurer of the North Dakota Press Association from 1906 to 1902.

On December 19, 1905, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Brathorne, at Reynolds, N. D. The children are, Thelma, Harold, Alvin and Paul. The family belonged to the Lutheran church.

TINNEY FUNNY EVEN IN COURT

Comedian Can't Keep Crows
From Laughing

New York, June 12.—Frank Tinney, black-face comedian, today is under bond to appear before the grand jury on a charge of assault brought against him by Imogene Wilson, "Follies" girl.

The comedian, who couldn't help being funny even when facing in court with a charge of having beaten and seriously injured Miss Wilson, yesterday kept the court room crowd in an uproar of laughter. The crowd even thought it was funny when he was held in $2,500 bail.

He testified that he had been obliged to use force to keep the actress from using an ice pick on him—and the crowd laughed. He displayed to the court a series of bruises on his shins, which he said, Miss Wilson had placed there—and the crowd laughed.

"She kicked down the door and moved in her trunk," he said, in referring to the apartment where the assault is alleged to have taken place. But the biggest laugh of all came when Tinney's attorney requested Miss Wilson to reciprocate by displaying her bruises. Magistrate Levine was forced to threaten to clear the court before he could restore order. Miss Wilson refused. The magistrate held Tinney for the grand jury.

mation to Lead Republican Party in the Fall Campaign in The Nation — Great Demonstration Is Staged by the Convention Throng After Dr. Burton of Michigan University Places President in Nomination—North Dakota
Banner Carried by Loyal Coolidge Delegates.

Convention Halls, Cleveland, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Calvin Coolidge was all but unanimously nominated for the Presidency today in the Republican national convention.

The voices of the little group of LaFollette men from Wisconsin and North Dakota who have stood through the convention in militant insurgency against the policy of the party leaders, were almost swallowed up in the tremendous wave of acclamation that formally ratified Mr. Coolidge's choice as the standard bearer of his party.

It was the plan to choose the President's running mate at another session this afternoon. Then the convention will adjourn and the party will go before the country.

Not in many years has a Republican convention come so near to unanimity in its selection of a nominee for the Presidency. Placed in nomination by Dr. Marion Leroy Burton of Michigan, Mr. Coolidge's name threw the assembled delegates into another old-time demonstration and when the roll-call began, state after state took its place in the column of its supporters. The call of the states was scarcely half over when the necessary majority to nominate had been recorded in his favor.

The Ballot
First ballot for Coolidge: Alabama 16; Arizona 8; Arizona 14; California 29; Colorado 15; Connecticut 17; Delaware 9; Florida 10; Georgia 18; Idaho 11; Illinois 61; Indiana 33; Iowa 29; Kansas 23; Kentucky 26; Louisiana 13; Maine 15; Maryland 19; Massachusetts 39; Michigan 33; Minnesota 27; Mississippi 12; Missouri 39; Montana 11; Nebraska 19; Nevada 9; New Jersey 31; New Mexico 9; New York 91; North Carolina 22; North Dakota 13 delegates; Ohio 51 for Coolidge; Oklahoma 23; Oregon 13; Pennsylvania 79; Rhode Island 13; South Carolina 11; South Dakota, name was placed in nomination. This telegram, he said, would definitely end all consideration of his selection.

The Idaho Senator said he considered that Federal Judge William S. Kenyon of Ohio and Governor Hyde of Missouri had the best chance for the place.

GERMAN LOAN IS ARRANGED

American Bankers to Advance
Twenty-Five Millions

New York, June 12.—American bankers completed negotiations for granting a credit of $25,000,000 to the German gold discount bank, organized by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, extending an initial advance of $5,000,000 made six weeks ago.

The international acceptance bank, which negotiated the loan, announced that all the banks constituting the original syndicate, including leading institutions of New York, Boston, Chicago, and Philadelphia, were interested in the new credit, and that the group had been widened to embrace 34 banks covering the main centers of the United States.

Enlargement of the original credit, it was indicated in the financial district was due partly to the delay in flotation of the international loan to Germany.

The call of the states was scarcely half over when the necessary majority to nominate had been recorded in his favor.

The Ballot

First ballot for Coolidge: Alabama 16; Arizona 8; Arkansas 14; California 16; Colorado 15; Connecticut 17; Delaware 9; Florida 10; Georgia 18; Idaho 11; Illinois 31; Indiana 28; Iowa 29; Kansas 23; Kentucky 26; Louisiana 13; Maine 15; Maryland 19; Massachusetts 39; Michigan 33; Minnesota 27; Mississippi 12; Missouri 39; Montana 11; Nebraska 19; Nevada 9; New Jersey 31; New Mexico 22; New York 91; North Carolina 12; North Dakota 13 delegates; Oregon 51 for Coolidge; Oklahoma 23; Oregon 13; Pennsylvania 79; Rhode Island 13; South Carolina 11; South Dakota, Johnson 10; Coolidge 3; Tennessee 23; Texas 23; Utah 11; Vermont 11; Virginia 17; Washington 17; West Virginia 19; Wisconsin 28 for LaFollette and Coolidge one; Wyoming 9 for Coolidge; Alaska 2; District of Columbia 2; Hawaii 2; Philippines 2, and Puerto Rico, 2. Total, Coolidge 1,065; LaFollette 34; Johnson 10.

Recall N. D. Vote
When North Dakota was reached and seven votes were cast for Coolidge and six for Senator LaFollette, a poll of the delegation was called for and ordered. The poll did not change the result, its purpose being to record those voting for Coolidge.

Assembling the convention at 10 o'clock this morning to go through the formalities of ratifying Mr. Coolidge's nomination, long a foregone conclusion—the convention managers agreed to a recess of only an hour and a half afterwards, before proceeding to a selection for the Vice-Presidency.

The formalities of nominating Mr. Coolidge himself to head the ticket were comparatively simple. The honor of placing his name before the delegates went to Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, once his neighbor in Northampton, Massachusetts, and now president of the University of Michigan. A half dozen delegates from as many states were allotted time for seconding speeches.

LaFollette Men Boomed
Senator LaFollette's Wisconsin delegates and their half-dozen sympathizers from North Dakota, boomed and taunted by a roaring circle of their colleagues, last night when they refused to join in a demonstration for Mr. Coolidge, were in their seats when the convention opened. They decided not to formally place the name of their leader before the convention but to cast their ballots for him from the floor.

Dr. Burton, a tall, striking figure, stepped briskly to the front of the platform and calmly surveyed the great audience, waiting for the applause and cheers to die, so that he could begin his speech.

"Fellow citizens of America, the greatest country the world has ever seen," he began, while the hall rocked with cheering. Dr. Burton spoke clearly and rapidly.

He spoke without a manuscript, but followed his prepared address closely, digressing here and there, but preserving the sense of the address which was undoubtedly approved by President Coolidge.

Applause Deafening

"Here then is the man," Dr. Burton said, as he finished a word picture of the president, "we have before us. Make no mistake. He is the type of leader for which America is in dire need today."

Dr. Burton's preparation brought the convention to its feet with an outburst of cheering and applause, and the procession of delegates started around the floor with ver-

REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES ARE URGED IN PLATFORM

ADHERENCE TO WORLD COURT IS INDORSED

Plank on Ku Klux Klan Declares For Religious and Political Freedom

ASK AGRICULTURAL AID

Orderly Government Plank
Declares Against All Corruption in Public Affairs

Cleveland, O., June 12.—The Republican party's platform, adopted last night by the convention, declares for American adherence to the World court of International Justice, reaffirms the party devotion to guarantees of civil, political and religious liberty as its attitude on the Ku Klux Klan, measures to aid agriculture and readjustment of freight rates.

High points in the platform include:
Election of senators and representatives who believe in Republican principles and acknowledge party responsibility is urged in the Republican platform.

This appeal constitutes the concluding plank which declares that the government functions best when the resident is supported "by a majority in Congress of the same political faith united by party principles and able by concerted action to carry out in an orderly way a definite, consistent, and well balanced program."

Other high spots in the platform include:

American adherence to the world
court as recommended by President Coolidge.

Demand for speedy prosecution of all wrong-doers in official positions and "condemnation of those who strive indiscriminately to besmirch the names of the innocent and undermine the confidence of the people in the government."

A declaration for rigid enforcement of the law, but without specific mention of prohibition.

Scientific readjustment of railroad rates; schedules with a view to encouragement of agriculture and basic industries without impairment of railroad traffic.

Enactment of measures to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries and government assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system and in diversification of crops.

For Early Tax Reduction
Progressive reduction of the taxes of all the people as rapidly as may be, and the placing of the federal tax system on a sound, peace time basis.

Commendation of the "firm insistence of President Coolidge upon rigid government economy."
Settlement of foreign debt growing out of the war on the basis of the agreement concluded with Great Britain.

Reaffirmation of the belief in the productive tariff policy with a safeguard authorizing the president to adjust duties to prevent excessive taxes and too high customs charges.
Renewal of a pledge to give the wounded and disabled war veterans
"that full measure of care guaranteed by an effective administration to which his patriotic services and sacrifices entitle him."

Praise Coolidge
The platform, in its beginning, pays tribute to Warren G. Harding and to President Calvin Coolidge.
Regarding Coolidge it says:

"He has put the public welfare above personal considerations. He has given to the people practical idealism in office. In his every act, he has won without seeking the applause of the people of the country.
The constantly accumulating evidence of his integrity, vision and singleminded devotion to the needs of the people of the nation strengthens and inspires our confident faith in his continued leadership."

Contrasting present conditions to those in 1921 when the party went in power, it says that in 1921 there were four and a half million unemployed and industry was stagnant;
today industry and commerce are active, public and private credits are sound; a step toward disarmament has been taken and "our friendship with the world powers, our relations with the rest of the world are on a firmer basis."

Public Economy
"We demand and the people of the United States have a right to demand, rigid economy in government," says
the platform. A Republican administration since 1921, it says, cut the public debt two and one half billions of dollars, the tax burdens have been reduced to the extent of $1,250,000, 000 per annum and government securities have increased in value more than $3,000,000,000; deficits have been converted into surpluses and the budget system is firmly entrenched. It summarizes:

"We believe that the achievement of the Republican administration in reducing taxation by $1,250,000,000 per annum; reducing of the public debt by $2,432,000,000; installing a budget system; reducing the public expenditures from $5,500,000,000 per annum to approximately $3,400,000, 000 annum, thus reducing the ordinary expenditures of the government to substantially a pre-war basis, and the complete restoration of public credit; the payment or refunding of seventy and a half billions of public obligations without disturbance of credit for industry—all during the short period of three years—presents a record unsurpassed in the history of public finance."

Progressive tax reduction is asked,
and the platform says it should not

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN SESSION

This picture was taken as the Republican National Convention opened in Cleveland. The meeting was called to order by National Chairman John T. Adams. Then Congressman Theodore E. Burton, temporary chairman, received the gavel and began his keynote address. The photograph was carried from Cleveland to Chicago by airplane mail.

be confined to less than 4,000,000 of our citizens who pay direct taxes but is the right of the more than 100,000,000 who are daily paying their taxes through their living expenses.
Congress has in the main confined its work to tax reduction. The matter of tax reform is still unsettled and is equally essential."

Reorganization of executive departments along lines urged by President Coolidge is asked.

Classification of postmasters in first, second and third class postoffices, enforcement of civil service;
and the placing of the prohibition field forces within the classified civil service without necessarily incorporating the present personnel is asked.

Foreign Relations
With regard to foreign relations
the platform says:

"The Republican party reaffirms its stand for agreement among the nations to prevent war and preserve peace. As an important step in this direction, we endorse the permanent court of international justice and favor the adherence of the United States to this tribunal as recommended by President Coolidge. This government has definitely refused membership in the League of Nations and to assume any obligation
under the covenant of the League.
On this we stand."

"While we are unwilling to enter into political commitments which would involve us in the conflict of European policies, it should be the purpose and high privilege of the United States to continue to cooperate with other nations in humanitarian efforts in accordance with our cherished traditions. The basic principles of our foreign policy must be independence without indifference to the rights and necessities of others and cooperation without entangling alliances. This policy overwhelmingly approved by the people, has been vindicated since the end of the great war. America's participation in world affairs under the administration of President Harding and President Coolidge has demonstrated the vision and prudence of the national judgment. A most impressive example of the capacity of the United States to serve the cause of world peace without political affiliations was shown in the effective and beneficent work of the Dawes commission towards the solution of the perplexing question of German reparations. The first conference of great powers in Washington called by President Harding accomplished the limitation of armaments and the readjustment of the relations of the powers interested in the Far East. The conference resulted in an agreement to reduce armaments, relieve the competitive nations involved from the great burdens of taxation arising from the construction and maintenance of capital battleships; assured new, broader, and better understanding in the Far East; brought the assurance of peace in the region of the Pacific and formerly adopted the policy of the open door for trade and commerce in the great markets of the Far East."

Opposition to cancellation of foreign debts is reaffirmed. Reaffirmation of belief in the protective tariff is stated. With regard to agriculture the platform says:

"In dealing with agriculture the Republican party recognizes that we are faced with a fundamental national problem, and that the prosperity and welfare of the nation as a whole is dependent upon the prosperity and welfare of our agricultural population.

"We recognize our agricultural activities and still are struggling with adverse conditions that have brought about distress. We pledge the party to take whatever steps are necessary to bring back a balanced condition and are equally essential."

"We affirm that under the Republican administration the problems of the farmer have received more serious consideration than ever before, both by definite executive action and by congressional action not only in the field of general legislation but also in the enactment of laws to meet emergency situations."

Labor
"The increasing stress of industrial life, the constant and necessary efforts because of world competition to increase production and decrease costs has made it special incumbent on those in authority to protect labor from undue exactions."

"We commend congress for having recognized this possibility in its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge for a constitutional amendment authorizing congress to legislate on the subject of child labor and we urge the prompt consideration of that amendment by the legislatures of the various states."

"There is no success great enough to justify the employment of women in labor under conditions which will impair their natural functions."

"We favor high standards for wage, working and living conditions among the women employed in industry."

"We pledge a continuance of the successful efforts of the Republican administration to eliminate the seven day, twelve hour work week in industry. We regard with satisfaction the elimination of the 12 hour day in the steel industry and the agreement eliminating the seven-day work week of alternate 13 and 11 hours accomplished through the efforts of President Harding and Coolidge. We declare our faith in the principle of the eight-hour day."

"We pledge a continuance of the work of rehabilitating workers in industry as conducted by the federal board of vocational education and favor adequate appropriations for this purpose."

"We favor a broader and better system of vocational education, a more adequate system of federal free employment agencies with facilities for assisting the movements of seasonal and migratory labor, including farm labor, with ample organization for bringing the man and his job together."

Railroads
"The people demand and are entitled to have prompt and efficient transportation at the lowest rates, consistent with good service and a reasonable return upon the value of the property devoted to public service."

"We believe that the American people demand, and we favor a careful and scientific re-adjustment of railroad rate schedules with a view of the encouragement of agriculture and basic industries, without impairment of railroad service."

"The present laws regulating railroads which were enacted to meet postwar conditions should be modified from time to time as experiences shows the necessity therefore.

"The consolidation of railroads into fewer competitive systems subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission should be provided for."

"The labor board provisions of the present law should be amended whenever it appears from experience that such action is necessary. Collective bargaining, mediation and voluntary arbitration are the most important steps in maintaining peaceful labor relations and should be encouraged. We do not believe in compulsory action at any time in the settlement of labor disputes."

"Public opinion must be the final arbitrator in any crisis which so vitally affects public welfare as the suspension of transportation."

"Therefore, the interests of the public require the maintenance of an impartial tribunal which can in an emergency make an investigation of the facts and publish its conclusions.

This is essential as a basis for popular judgment."

"We favor a stable consistent and constructive policy toward our railroads."

Government Control
The prosperity of the American nation rests on the vigor of private initiative which has bred a spirit of independence and self reliance. The Republican party stands now as always, against all attempts to put the government into business.

"American industry should not be compelled to struggle against government competition. The right of the government to regulate, supervise and control public utilities and public interests we believe should be strengthened, but we are firmly opposed to the nationalization and government ownership of public utilities.
The platform declares for continuation of the government operated merchant marine until it can be placed on a solid basis and sold to American citizens.

Development of waterways and steps to control floods is urged.

It reaffirms admiration and gratitude to soldiers, and declares for generosity for disabled veterans.

Conservation of national resources is urged, the platform referring particularly to Theodore Roosevelt's advocacy of conservation.

Approves the creation of a cabinet
post of education and relief.

Immigration
With regard to immigration it says:
"The unprecedented living conditions in Europe following the world war created a condition by which we were threatened with mass immigration that would have seriously disturbed our economic life. The law recently enacted is designed to protect the inhabitants of our country, not only the American citizen, but also the alien already with us who is seeking to secure an economic foothold for himself and family from the competition that would come from unrestricted immigration. The administration features of the law represent a great constructive advance, and eliminate the hardships suffered by immigrants under the emergency statute."

"We favor the adoption of methods which will exercise a helpful influence among the foreign born population and provide for the education of the alien in our language, customs,

EARLY TODAYDevelops Strength After Wavering Start

Chicago, June 12. (By the A. P.)—Fresh strength quickly developed in wheat today after a wavering start. Opening prices ranged from 1-8 to 5-8 cents lower, July $1.07-7-8 to $1.10-1-8 and September $1.12 to 1-8 and were succeeded by rallies of one cent or more all around.

Persistent profit-taking sales together with slowness of export demand led to temporary price declines later but the market rallied again at the finish. The close was unsettled, 4c to 5c net higher, July $1.18 1/2 to 1-4c and September $1.12 1/2 to $1.13.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

Chicago, June 12.—Eggs higher. Receipts 21,204 cases. Firsts 25 to 2-2 cents; ordinary firsts 23-1/2 to 2-4 cents; storage pack extras 27 to 2-4 cents; firsts 27 cents.

Poultry alive, lower. Fowls 21 to 23 cents; broilers 30 to 38 cents; roosters 14 cents.

Butter unsettled; receipts 12,750 tubs; creamery extras 39 cents; standards 39-3/4 to 39 cents; extra firsts 38-1/2 to 39-1/2 cents; extra second 36-1/2 to 37-1/2 cents; seconds 33 to 35-1/2 cents; cheese unchanged.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, June 12.—Hog receipts, 35,000. Mostly steady. Early sales five to 10 cents lower. Top $7.25.

Cattle receipts 14,000. Few early sales beef steers, yearlings and fat sheeps 10 to 15 cents lower.

Sheep receipts 13,000. Fair to active, range lambs 15 to 25 cents lower.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

St. Paul, June 12.—Cattle receipts 1,000. Slow. Few early sales. Early bid for fat steers and yearlings mostly weak to 25 cents lower. Other classes about steady. Best fat steers billed about $9.50. Calves receipts 1,400. Best light vealers to packers $8.25 to $8.50.

Hog receipts 9,000. Arrived steady to strong. Bulk desirable butcher and bacon hogs $6.50 to $6.65.

Sheep receipts 100. Steady, good native spring lambs $15.50.

HOOPLE DIVERSITIES

Hoople, N. D., June 12.—During the year ending June 1, 1924, 137 carloads of grain, 655 carloads of potatoes, and 11,536 gallons of cream were shipped from Hoople. This represents a decrease of 74 carloads of grain, an increase of 250 carloads of potatoes, and 4,882 gallons of cream.

DEER INCREASING

San Francisco, June 12.—The number of deer in California is increasing despite the fact that the combined toll taken by hunters and mountain lions each year is at least 50,000. The state at present has a population of 300,000 to 400,000 deer, according to estimates of the California Fish and Game Commission.

MOSQUITOES' PARADISE

Maunin, Burma, June 12.—Maunin has the largest and most mosquitoes in the world, scientists declare. Great detachments of mosquitoes swarm out to meet every visitor. They hang in festoons from the white awnings, the mosquito nets, the table linen and the panhau flaps. Every window and crevice of the European houses in Maunin is protected by sliding curtains of iron gauze.

HIGH PRICED
'BABY BEEF' IS
FED CAREFULLYDemonstration Farm Sells
Baby Beef Heifer at Nine Cents Per Pound

HOW DIET WAS CHANGED

Fargo, N. D., June 12.—Lucy, despite the fact that she was well fed and cared for and given all of the protection that the young should have, has left her North Dakota farm home and by this time has probably been introduced to at least some of the evils of Chicago.

Back on the Dakota farm home where she spent all of her early days those who cared for her seem quite hardened to the fact that she has gone. In fact they are quite about it for instead of Lucy they have $57.80 to spend for some farm necessities.

Lucy, a skim milk baby beef heifer sold recently on the Chicago livestock market at nine cents a pound. She weighed when 14 months old, 800 pounds. After deducting shipping expenses she netted the former owners $57.80, a good return, they believe, considering that many North Dakota short-yearling heifers net but from $15 to $30 on the St. Paul or Chicago markets.

The heifer was bred and fed on the McLeod demonstration farm, a branch of the North Dakota experiment station. Edgar Olson, manager of the farm, states that during the first few weeks of her life, Lucy was fed three and one-half quarts of whole milk twice a day. At this time, Lady, her mother, a grade Shorthorn cow, was giving 25 quarts of milk daily.

Gets Whole Milk

At the end of the fourth week a little skim milk replaced some of the whole milk, and at the end of the same amount of skim milk as she formerly received of whole milk. By this time the feed that she consumed took the place, at least to a large extent, of the butterfat that was lacking in the milk after it was separated.

Her milk allowance, both when she received whole and skim milk, was always weighed so that she got her regular ration, no more and no less. As soon as it was noticed that she started nibbling at hay that was continually in front of her she was given a small amount of ground feed.

This was gradually increased the older she grew, as was the skim milk, but at no time did she receive little over two gallons a day. At all times she had free access to water and salt, a lump of the latter being in her feed box.

One thing Lucy missed and that was the fun of running in the big pasture with the cows and older heifers. But then too, she and the younger stuff didn't fret and lose flesh in fighting flies that seemed to bury themselves in the flesh of the calves that were out. Practically all her life was spent in the calf pen, generally with some other calves or heifers.

Morning Diet

While Lucy was growing fat and plump her mother was giving morning and night a nice mess of milk that contained butterfat that when separated out and sold did its share in paying a part of the running expenses of the farm. While just a high grade milking Shorthorn her record sheet at the end of her lactation period looked mighty good. It reads 8446 pounds of skim milk and 321 pounds of butterfat during the year.

No exact record was kept of the feed consumed by Lucy or her calf. Lucy's feed was, however, practically all farm grown. The roughage was a good quality of midland hay for which there was no market that would warrant baling and shipping, some alfalfa, and a limited amount of potatoes for which there was no cash market.

The grain ration consisted of a mixture of corn and cob meal, oats, and some speltz. Toward the last the heifer received in addition a little oil meal. The total would not amount to more than 25 pounds.

mont in the lead. Other delegates quickly followed, carrying their state standards, and soon the aisles were choked with the marching, cheering, shouting throng. There were some rebel yell interspersed in the demonstration.

Boys from Plymouth, Vermont carried a banner reading: "We are all members of the Home Town Coolidge Club."

At first the demonstrators did not have the inspiration of music to spur them on, but soon they got going to the accompaniment of the band which paced a gallop. The demonstration was all for Coolidge, a noisy but hearty one.

Carry N. D. Standard

The North Dakota standard, from the delegation of which there are six LaFollette delegates, was carried into the procession but the South Dakota delegation, having Johnson delegates, failed to get in. The great organ took up the music and the electric lighting effects were used to good advantage, bathing the hall and the swirling, milling mass of delegates in different shades of light ranging from bright sunshine to a twilight blue.

The organ swung into the chords of "Onward Christian Soldiers," and the marchers picked up the words of the grand old hymn as they marched about.

Not Made Unanimous

When Wisconsin cast 28 votes for Senator LaFollette and one for President Coolidge, the galleries booed and hissed again, and there were shouted demands to bring the lone Coolidge delegate to the platform.

After the result had been announced to the convention, the chair recognized Mr. Scott, the lone Coolidge delegate in the Wisconsin delegation. He moved to make the President Coolidge unanimous. S. X. Way of South Dakota also presented the same resolution.

There was a long and continuing chorus of "ayes" and the 28 LaFollette delegates from Wisconsin entered "no" among cries of "put 'em out."

COUNTY FIGURES SHOWN

The total of farm loans made by the farm loan department of the Bank of North Dakota since the Nestor administration came into power is now at the 4,000 mark, and figures on the business of the department in the last five months shows money being loaned at the rate of more than a half million dollars a month. A total of $2,650,000 was loaned by the department between January 1 and May 31, 1924.

The total of loans made by the Nonpartisan league administration when it was in charge of the bank was $2,760,331.83, and the number of loans was 755, the loans being paid over a period of about two years and a half.

The total amount of loans now has reached 3,946 for a total of $12,047,141.12, according to figures of the department.

Under the quota plan adopted by the department when applications far exceeded the number of loans, money has been loaned in all parts of the state. The total number of farm loans closed by the present administration, and the amount, is shown as follows:

The farm loan business of the Bank of North Dakota at the present time is subject somewhat to the ebb and flow of deposits in the institution, since money must be borrowed to run the department until bonds can be issued. The Industrial Commission has proposed a law permitting issuance of bonds before loans are made, on the ground that this would enable the department to make more loans, and to sell bonds at the time the market is best and obtain the best price for the bonds, the advantage being reflected in a lower rate of interest on farm loans.

STATE'S BONUS
COST FIGUREDEstimated Total Cost Is Around 10 Millions

North Dakota's state soldiers' bonus, when finally paid, probably will cost the state about $10,000,000, on the basis of payments made to date, as shown in the published annual report of the Industrial Commission. The report covers payment made up to the first of January, 1924, when 11,800 claims had been paid. There were 30,933 North Dakota men enlisted in the World War.

Payment of the bonus, which began in 1920, has been in each year as follows:

1920	$ 648,132.77
1921	863,928.40
1922	1,132,753.74
1923	1,366,549.37

Total $4,011,664.28

Although more than 30,000 North Dakotans served in the war, however, less than 23,000 have filed claims for the compensation. The average bonus per man thus far is about $500. Payments of the bonus will continue under the tax levied each year for this purpose, and it is estimated that five years will be required to complete payments.

Efforts to Buy Up U. S. Certificates to be Fought

Washington, June 12.—Attempts of "scalpers" to buy up for cash at large discounts adjusted compensation certificates from world war veterans will be met by drastic action. A statement to this effect was made here by officials of the Veterans' Bureau to representatives of the American Legion.

Attention of the Bureau was called to an advertisement in which a veteran offered to sell his certificate "to the highest cash bidder." Bureau officials were also advised of reports that a huge financial pool is being organized in a leading middle western city for the purpose of buying up compensation certificates in the hope of reaping huge profits at the expense of the veteran and the government.

The "scalper" it was pointed out, will in all probability sell himself, if he buys up such a certificate, with only a non-negotiable "scrap of paper." The government has no intention of permitting wholesale "scalping" of certificates, inquiry at the veterans' bureau and among members of congress revealed.

The law was carefully drawn, it was said, to protect the veteran and his dependent and to throw all possible safeguards around their interests. Section 606 of the law will prevent payment by the government to any other than the veteran himself or his dependents or beneficiaries designated only by the director of the veterans' bureau.

This section is as follows:

"No right to payment under the provisions of this title shall be assignable or serve as security for any loan. Any assignment or loan made in violation of the provisions of this section shall be held void. The director shall not make any payments under this title to any person other than the dependent or such representative of the dependent as the director shall by regulation prescribe."

Authorities are agreed, that persons who attempt to purchase adjusted service certificates will find themselves the losers.

REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES ARE URGED IN PLATFORM

Plan on Ku Klux Klan Declares For Religious and Political Freedom

Orderly Government Plank Declares Against All Corruption in Public Affairs

Cleveland, O., June 12.—The Republican party's platform, adopted last night by the convention, declared for American adherence to the World Court of International Justice, reaffirms the party devotion to guarantees of civil, political and religious liberty and its attitude on the Ku Klux Klan, measures to aid agriculture and readjustment of freight rates.

High points in the platform include:

Election of senators and representatives who believe in Republican principles and acknowledge party responsibility is urged in the Republican platform.

The appeal constitutes the concluding plank which declares that the government functions best when the resident is supported "by a majority in Congress of the same political faith united by party principles and able by concerted action to carry out in an orderly way a definite, consistent and well balanced program." Other high spots in the platform include:

American adherence to the world court as recommended by President Coolidge.

Demand for speedy prosecution of all wrong-doers in official positions and condemnation of those who "strive indiscriminately to besmirch the names of the innocent and undermine the confidence of the people in the government."

A declaration for rigid enforcement of the law, but without specific mention of prohibition.

Scientific readjustment of railroad rates, schedules with a view to encouragement of agriculture and basic industries without impairment of railroad traffic.

Enactment of measures to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries and government assistance in the readjustment of the marketing system and in diversification of crops.

For Early Tax Reduction

Progressive reduction of the taxes of all the people as rapidly as may be, and the placing of the federal tax system on a sound, peace time basis.

Congratulation of the "firm insistence" of President Coolidge upon rigid government economy.

Settlement of foreign debt growing out of the war on the basis of the agreement concluded with Great Britain.

Reaffirmation of the belief in the protective tariff policy with a safeguard authorizing the president to adjust duties to prevent excessive taxes and too high customs charges.

Renewal of a pledge to give the wounded and disabled war veterans the "best measures of care guaranteed by effective administration to which his patriotic services and sacrifices entitle him."

Prattise Coolidge

The platform, in its beginning, pays tribute to Warren G. Harding and to President Calvin Coolidge. Regarding Coolidge it says:

"He has put the public welfare above personal considerations. He has given to the people practical leadership in office. In his every act, he has won without seeking the applause of the people of the country. The constantly accumulating evidence of his integrity, vision and singleminded devotion to the needs of the people of the nation strengthens and inspires our confident faith in his continued leadership."

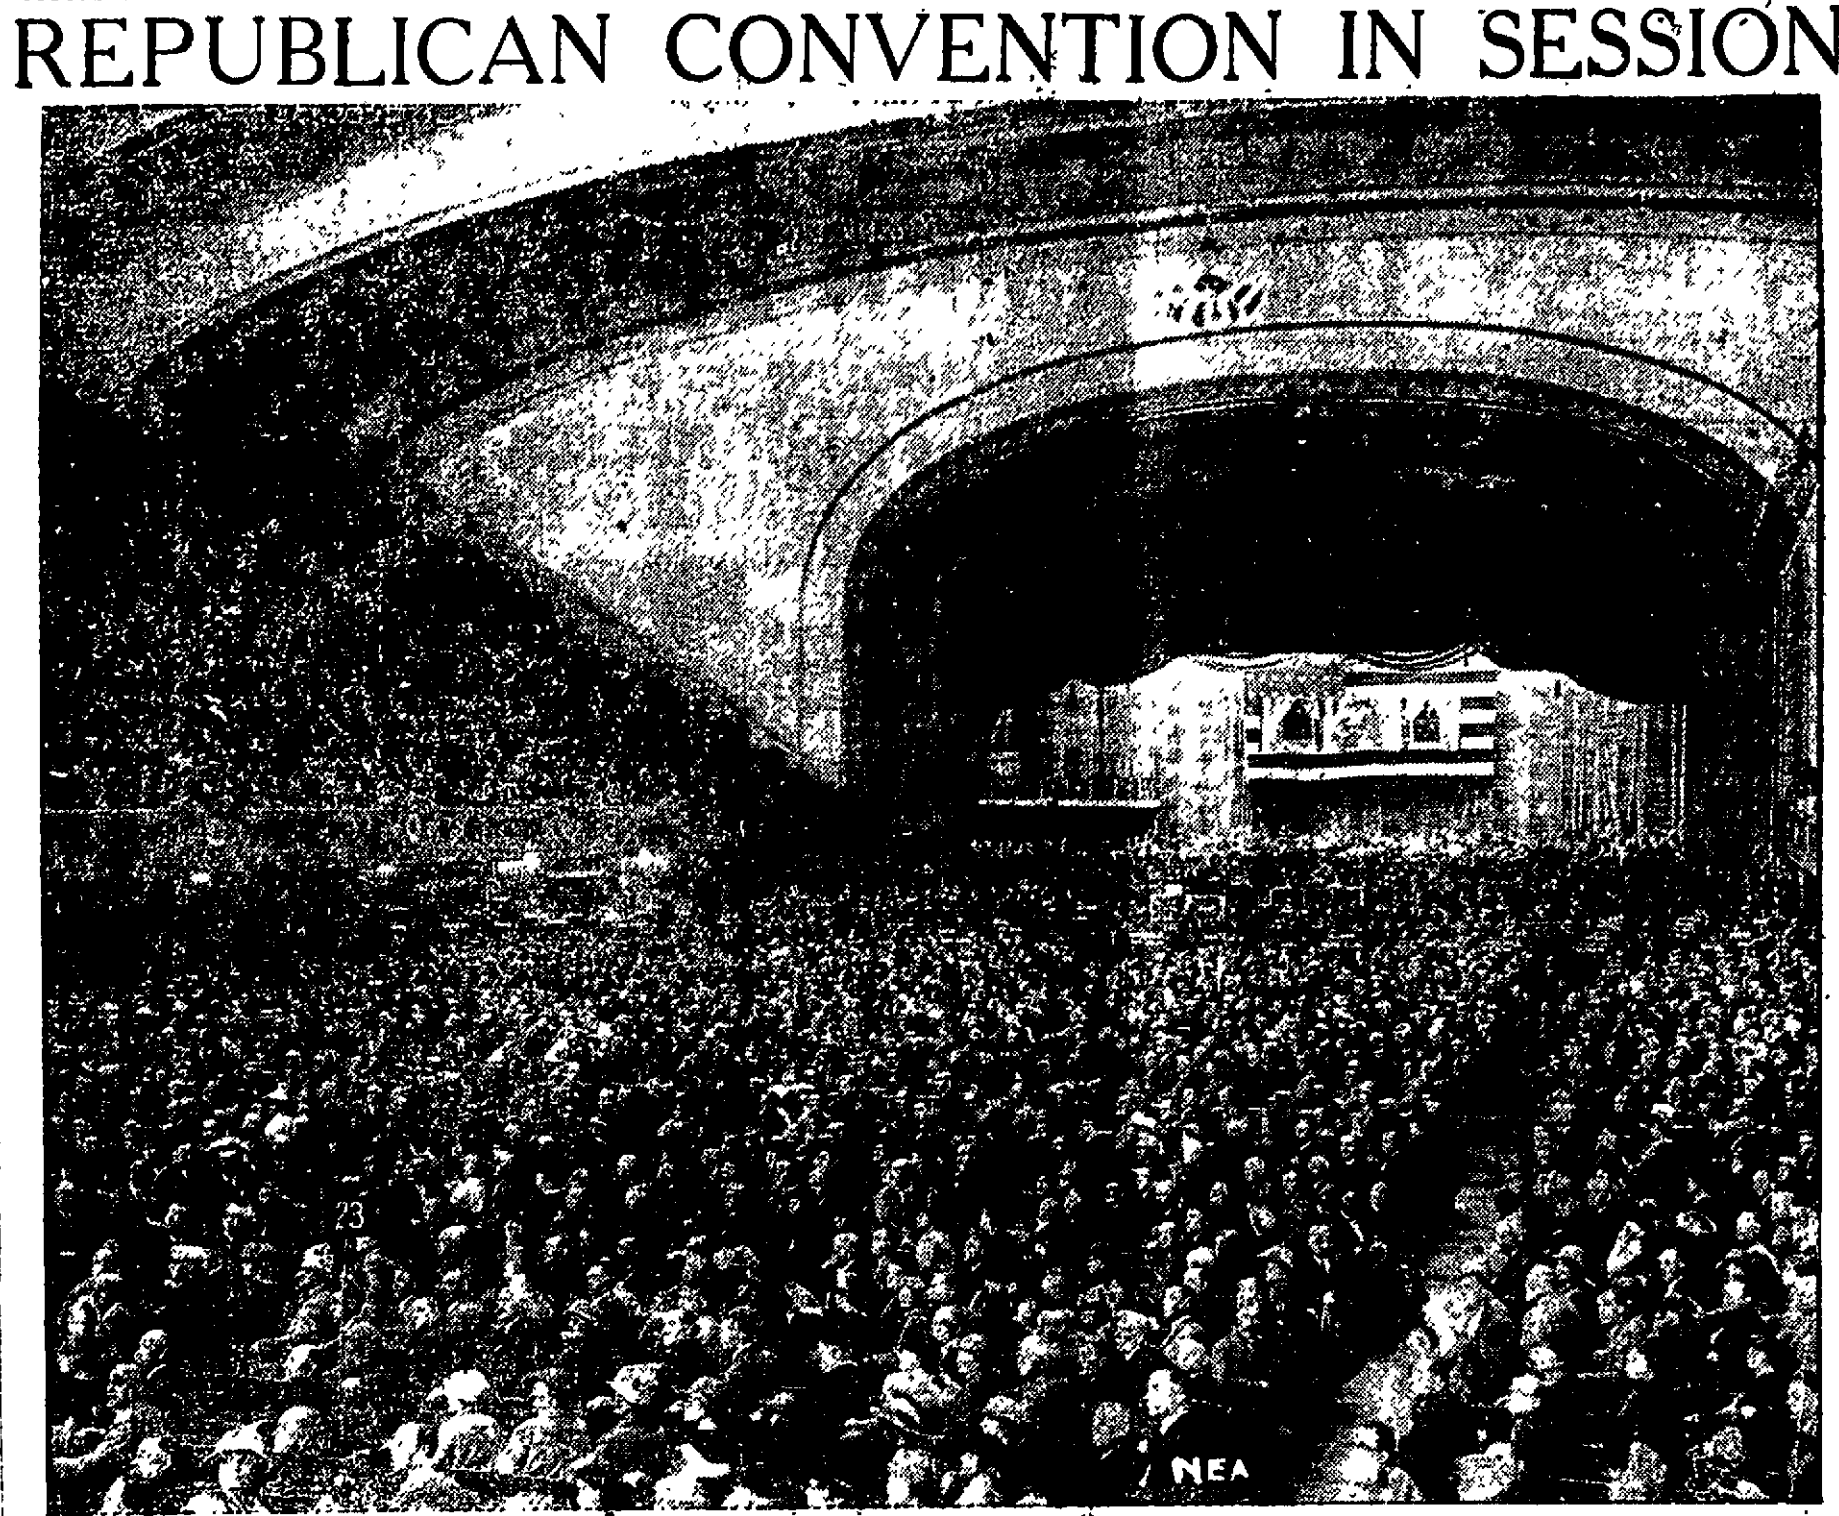

Constrasting conditions to those in 1921 when the party went in power, it says that in 1923 there were four and a half million unemployed and industry was stagnant; today industry and commerce are active; public and private credits are sound; a step toward disarmament has been taken and "our friendship with the world powers, our relations with the rest of the world are on a firmer basis."

Public Economy

"We demand and the people of the United States have a right to demand, rigid economy in government," says the platform. A Republican administration since 1921, it says, cut the public debt two and one half billions of dollars, the tax burdens have been relieved to the extent of $1,250,000,000 per annum and government securities have increased in value more than $300,000,000; deficits have been converted into surpluses and the budget system is firmly entrenched. It summarizes:

"We believe that the achievement of the Republican administration in reducing taxation by $1,250,000,000 per annum; reducing of the public debt by $2,425,000,000; installing a budget system; reducing the public expenditures from $5,500,000,000 per annum to approximately $3,400,000,000; and reducing the ordinary expenditures of the government to substantially a pre-war basis, and the complete restoration of public credit, the payment or refunding of war bonds and a half billion of public obligations without disturbance of credit to industry—all during the short period of three years—presents a record unsurpassed in the history of public finance."

Progressive tax reduction is urged, and it is declared that it should not be confined to less than 4,000,000 of our citizens who pay direct taxes, but is the right of the more than 100,000,000 who are daily paying their taxes through their living expenses.

This picture was taken at the Republican National Convention opened in Cleveland. The meeting was called to order by National Chairman John T. Adams. Then Congressman Theodore E. Burton, temporary chairman, received the gavel and began his keynote address. The photograph was carried from Cleveland to Chicago by airplane mail.

Congress has in the main turned its work to tax reduction. The matter of tax reform is still unsettled and is equally essential.

Reorganization of executive departments about lines urged by President Coolidge is asked.

Classification of postmasters in first, second and third class positions, enforcement of civil service, and the placing of the prohibition field force within the classified civil service without need for incorporating the present personnel is asked.

Foreign Relations

With regard to foreign relations the platform says:

"The Republican party reaffirms its stand for armament among the nations to prevent war and preserve peace. As an important step in this direction, as a means of the permanent settlement of international disputes and to favor the adoption of the United States to this tribunal as recommended by President Coolidge, the government has recently renewed membership in the League of Nations and to assume any obligation under the compact of the League on this we stand."

"While we are unwilling to enter into political commitments which would involve us in the conflict of European politics, it should be the purpose and high privilege of the United States to continue to cooperate with other nations in humanitarian efforts to secure peace and prosperity for all peoples. The best principles of our foreign policy must be independent without indifference to the rights and necessities of others and cooperation without compromise of our own principles."

The policy of disarmament approved by the people has been vindicated since the end of the great war. America's part, part on world affairs under the administration of President Harding and President Coolidge has demonstrated the vision and prudence of the national judgment. A most impressive example of the capacity of the United States to serve the cause of world peace with political affiliation was shown in the effective and beneficent action of the Dawes commission towards the solution of the perplexing question of German reparations. The first conference of great powers in Washington called by President Harding accomplished the limitation of armament and the readjustment of the relations of the powers in the Far East. The process of disarmament resulted in an agreement to reduce armaments, relieved the competitive nations involved from the great burdens of taxation arising from the construction and maintenance of capital battleships; assured new, broader, and better understanding in the Far East, brought the assurance of peace in the region of the Pacific and formally adopted the policy of the open door for trade and commerce in the great markets of the Far East.

Opposition to cancellation of foreign debts is reaffirmed. Reaffirmation of belief in the protective tariff is stated. With regard to agriculture the platform says:

"In dealing with agriculture the Republican party recognizes that we are faced with fundamental national problems, and that the prosperity and welfare of the nation as a whole depends upon the proper development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industries to assure its prosperity and success. We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are threatened by competition. We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for co-operative marketing of farm products.

Declares the administration has improved the mining industry, started since the war much of the time. Federal aid for highways is upheld.

With regard to labor, railroads and government control the platform says:

Labor

"The increasing stress of industrial life, the constant and necessary efforts because of world competition to increase production and decrease costs has made it special incumbent on those in authority to protect labor from undue exactions."

"We commend congress for having recognized this possibility in its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge for a constitutional amendment authorizing congress to legislate on the subject of child labor and we urge the prompt consideration of that amendment by the legislatures of the various states."

"There is no success great enough to justify the employment of women in labor under conditions which will impair their natural functions."

"We favor high standards for wage, working and living conditions among the women employed in industry."

"We pledge a continuance of the successful efforts of the Republican administration to eliminate the seven day, twelve hour work week in industry. We regard with satisfaction the elimination of the 12 hour day in the steel industry and the agreement eliminating the seven-day work week of alternate 13 and 11 hours accomplished through the efforts of President Harding and Coolidge. We declare our faith in the principle of the eight-hour day."

"We pledge a continuation of the work of rehabilitating workers in industry as conducted by the federal board of vocational education and favor adequate appropriations for this purpose."

"We favor a broader and better system of vocational education, a more adequate system of federal free employment agencies with facilities for assisting the movements of seasonal and migratory labor, including farm labor, with ample organization for bringing the man and his job together."

Railroads

"The people demand and are entitled to have prompt and efficient transportation at the lowest rates, consistent with good service and a reasonable return upon the value of the property devoted to public service."

"We believe that the American people demand, and we favor a careful and scientific re-adjustment of railroad rate schedules with a view of the encouragement of agriculture and basic industries, without impairment of railroad service."

"The present laws regulating railroads which were enacted to meet postwar conditions should be modified from time to time as experiences show the necessity therefore."

"The consolidation of railroads into fewer competitive systems subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission should be provided for."

"The labor board provisions of the present law should be amended whenever it appears from experience that such action is necessary. Collective bargaining, mediation and voluntary arbitration are the most important steps in maintaining peaceful labor relations and should be encouraged. We do not believe in compulsory action at any time in the settlement of labor disputes."

"Public opinion must be the final arbiter in any crisis which so vitally affects public welfare as the suspension of transportation."

"Therefore, the interests of the public require the maintenance of an impartial tribunal which can in an emergency make an investigation of the facts and publish its conclusions. This is essential as a basis for popular judgment."

Government Control

The prosperity of the American nation rests on the vigor of private initiative which has bred a spirit of independence and self reliance. The Republican party stands now as always, against all attempts to put the government into business."

"American industry should not be compelled to struggle against government competition. The right of the government to regulate, supervise and control public utilities and public interests we believe should be strengthened. We are firmly opposed to the nationalization and government ownership of public utilities. The platform declares for continuation of the government operated merchant marine until it can be placed on a solid basis and held to American citizens."

Development of waterways and steps to control floods is urged. It reaffirms admiration and gratitude to soldiers, and declares for generosity for disabled veterans. Conservation of national resources is urged, the platform referring particularly to Theodore Roosevelt's advocacy of conservation. Approves the creation of a cabinet post of education and relief."

Immigration

With regard to immigration it says: "The unprecedented living conditions in Europe following the world war created a condition by which we were threatened with mass immigration that would have seriously disturbed our economic life. The law recently enacted is designed to protect the inhabitants of our country, not only the American citizen, but also the alien already with us who is seeking for himself and family from the competition that would come from unrestricted immigration. The administration features of the law represent a great constructive advance, and eliminate the hardships suffered by immigrants under the emergency statute."

"We favor the adoption of methods which will exercise a helpful influence among the foreign born population and provide for the education of the alien in our language, customs, and habits."

In the Philippine Islands, under the American flag, they're surveying "vast tracts" suitable for rubber plantations.

The plantations will be planted, and they should be encouraged in every possible way. Out of every 100 pounds of rubber produced in the whole world, 80 pounds are used by Americans.

We are flirting with fate when we leave rubber growing to other nations almost entirely. If our supply of rubber were shut off by military or trade wars, autos wouldn't be the only things that'd have to be shelved.

Just look about you now, at the things made of rubber. It's a dangerous semi-monopoly to be in the hands of other nations.

MILLIONAIRE

You can be a millionaire for a day. In the most exclusive district of Boston, a millionaire's home has been purchased by Alexander Bannwart, who has an entirely new scheme for making money.

The mansion—including all its lavish furnishings, butlers, maids and other servants—is for rent by the day or even by the hour. The rental for an afternoon of bridge is $50.

This fellow Bannwart is evidently a shrewd psychologist. Human nature is on his side. He is first in a field that will be widely developed. How easy it is to make money—if you have a new idea.

BROADWAY

The lure of Broadway is interfering with factories at the outskirts of New York City. Workers want jobs near the Gay White Way. Some are reported to have quit the factories because they got bored during lunch hour. A different sort of job near Broadway may pay less, but it's closer to excitement and gaiety.

This is human nature, and it is the thing that is preventing a general exodus of factories and mills from large cities to small towns. What percentage of the population—employers as well as employed—is more intent on a good time than old-fashioned work?

WAGES

England is working more, under the labor government. She has about a million unemployed. But this is a quarter million fewer than at the beginning of the year.

What's equally important to the English dinner-pail carrier is that the cost of living over there is only 70 per cent higher than before the war. In our country, living costs are more than twice as high as in 1914, despite lower estimates by corporation statisticians and others.

Wages, by the way, in the basic English industries rise or fall as the cost of living goes up and down. Organized labor takes care of that, has it written into its agreements with employers.

Pavlov's salary for dancing is $10,000 a week, it's disclosed in a lawsuit.

She's overtaking the world's highest paid dancer—Mei Ran-Tan, the Chinaman. He gets $2500 a night—and in a country where unskilled labor is paid about 18 cents a day.

Mei Ran-Tan is only 24. He dances masquerading as a woman. Spurs all offers to show in America. Critics claim he is the finest dancer in history. We'd always credited Chinese with being very wise. But it seems they too, pay higher for educated feet than educated heads.

MEAT

Vegetarians have a novel new argument in this: The crops of seven-tenths of the tilled land of American farmers are fed to animals. Meat-eating is an expensive habit. The argument on the other side is that meat is concentrated vegetables.

Every one, however, should eat less meat in summer. It's a cold weather food. In warm weather nature intends us to eat vegetables, particularly leafy ones. That's why she grows them in summer instead of winter.

YOU

Ever crave to buy a patch of ground in the country and become more or less independent by growing your own food?

How much land would you need? That'd depend on what you grew. But American farmers now are tilling about three and a quarter acres of land for every man, woman and child of the population.

The farmer with many acres can figure how many people he's supporting.

COURAGE

The first New York movie theater of opera house size and with a complete orchestra instead of a lone piano player or electric organ was the Mark Strand. That took courage, for other managers predicted failure.

The Mark Strand is still doing business with 53 orchestra men, and has a record of 60 million paid admissions.

This illustrates the value of other people's opinions.

COTTON

The available supply of cotton favors the southern grower. Traders in New Orleans estimate that the cotton carry-over at the end of the season, July 31, will be between 1,600,000 and 2,000,000 bales. The carry-over on the same date in 1923 was 2,753,000 bales.

And the price end of the law of supply and demand works 24 hours a day.

The Philippines want independence so they can have oil scandals and things all their own.

Supporters contribute money to campaign funds in America, but in Mexico they contribute ammunition.

A GREAT FISH AND GAME PRESERVE

Among the bills that passed Congress just prior to its adjournment was a bill creating the Mississippi Fish and Game Refuge. This measure will create a fish and game preserve, nearly 300 miles in length from Wabasha, Minn., to Rock Island, Ill.

The purpose of the bill is to prevent the drainage on both sides of the river of much swampy land, which is held to be the greatest fish breeding grounds in the United States. Drainage projects which would be uncertain crops and would destroy the breeding of fish and wild fowl, will not be permitted under the terms of the bill. The area included in this strip of river and swamp land is about 343,000 acres. It is especially adapted for the raising of bluegills. Fishing except for rough fish, and hunting will be prohibited on this preserve which will become one of the great fish and game refuge regions in the United States. Sportsmen organizations throughout the country approve of the measure, which provides for the acquisition by the federal government of the tract required.—Jamestown Alert.

WHY A TIME LIMIT?

During the closing days of Congress, the House Committee on Insular Affairs approved a bill providing for a larger autonomy for the Philippine people. In this bill it was also provided that at the end of 30 years the Filipinos should have the opportunity of determining by a plebiscite whether they would remain a part of this country or set up an independent government, but the Committee amended this provision so that it would grant absolute independence to the Philippines after 20 years, if the Filipinos desired independence at that time.

Why a time limit? If the American people had said, when they first acquired the Philippines, that in 20 years they would grant independence they would have been mistaken in their opinion of the Filipinos being fully prepared to govern themselves. Recent reports of Americans who have investigated the Philippine situation, shows that the Filipinos are not prepared today for absolute independence.

Instead of fixing a time for independence it would be far better for this country to grant the Filipinos every reasonable leeway in the operation of their government, but to withhold independence until there is a very evident united feeling among the Filipinos themselves in favor of independence, and until they have fully demonstrated their ability to govern themselves.

That time may come earlier than expected and still again it may be delayed indefinitely. With a fair beginning already made and with the government set up over them by the United States, the development may, however, be more rapid than it has been in the past.

But why postpone something on a fixed date unless we are certain that it can be carried out? Judging from the past, it would be better to grant the Filipinos greater freedom of action as they merit it, and reserve the decision regarding independence until such time as we are reasonably sure that a stable government will continue after our withdrawal from the islands.—Fargo Forum.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up, the fairy, held tightly to the stork's long sharp beak while he carried them away from the tulip field over a lovely country with grass so green it looked like paint in a picture.

And the sky above was so blue and the clouds so big and white and fluffy, they, too, looked like paint. "Holland," looked like a picture, didn't it?" remarked Nancy, looking down as they sailed through the air high above the tree tops.

"Yes," answered the stork. "When I leave my other home in Africa to fly north for the summer, you can't blame me for picking out such a lovely country as Holland. And the people are so kind, too! They always watch for our coming and never throw stones at us, the children don't."

"Oh, look!" cried Nick. "What are those big things with wheels on top?"

"Those are wind-mills," said the stork. "And what are all those creeks for?" asked Nancy, pointing downward. "They're so straight they look as though they had been drawn with a ruler, and they cross each other like the marks on a checkboard."

"Those are canals," explained the stork. "Holland is low and very watery. The people dig canals to let the water run away, then their fields are dry enough to farm."

"I see lots of cows," said Nick next. "There seem to be cows everywhere."

"Of course," answered the stork. "Cows give milk and milk makes cheese. The people of Holland make enough cheese to feed the whole world almost—and still have enough left over for the mice. Those houses yonder are dairies where they make the cheese."

"Say," said Johnny Jump Up admiringly, "you know a lot don't you, Mister Stork? Why, you are better than a geography book."

"Seeing the world is always better than studying a book," said the stork wisely, "and I am a much-traveled person."

"Are we much-traveled persons?" asked Nancy curiously.

"Well," said the stork thoughtfully, "should say you were. And by the time my friend the timonae takes you to some more countries

AN OLD, OLD TUNE

Note—The following poem was written by James W. Foley and printed in the Pasadena Evening Post, after Mr. Foley's return to California from Bismarck, where he attended the Rotary conference in April.

I am back from old Dakota, from her prairies vast and wide,
Back from old Dakota, where I met and laughed and cried
With friends of mine in olden days, when all of us were young,
When dreams were sweet and life was glad and boyhood songs were sung;

Back from old Dakota, where they greeted me with snow,
Snow in flowery April, when the blossoms ought to blow,
And I heard in early morning, as I've often heard of yore,
The scraping of the shovel on the coal bin floor.

It was all so familiar, as I heard it at the dawn,
Way down there in the basement, where they piled the fuel on.
For years I had not heard it, but I knew it at a sound,
And there without my window was the white snow on the ground.

It brought me back my boyhood and my school days and the bin
That all through the winter days and nights we kept the fuel in,
And when by early morning light, and often times before,
I scraped that old coal shovel on the coal bin floor.

Like some old bit of music that I had not heard for long
It brought me many a dream of old and many a boyhood song.
And many a recollection sweet, and many a smile and tear,
The scraping of that shovel as it fell upon my ear.
It brought me frosty Christmases and wild fowl on the wing,
And feathery flakes that filled the air and crocuses in spring.
And I was furred and mittened on the way to school once more
With the scraping of that shovel on the coal bin floor.

A Day With the Candidates
"Al" Still Must Report to "Ma"

By NEA Service
Albany, N. Y., June 12.—Governor "Al" Smith likes to walk to work. It is the one form of recreation he is sure of getting these days. For the stress of state business and the approach of the Democratic convention have cut in on his other favorite diversions—golfing, playing with the animals in his children's zoo and watching the movies.

The showing of these pictures takes place in the large sitting room of the executive mansion two or three times a week. Among the audience is the Smith family, the mansion employees and young Walter Smith's friends. They never miss a laugh. Neither does the governor when he gets the chance to be there.

For "Al" Smith loves a wholesome laugh and gives many—with his inimitable stories. He gets up in the morning with a song on his lips, shaves himself, has a homey breakfast, stops a while to play with his children's pet in the back-yard menagerie, and goes down to the capitol the same time as the clerks. A morning's work at his desk and he goes home for luncheon, taking his secretary with him usually.

A brisk walk back to the office, a clean-up of the day's work, and he takes a few holes of golf—if his time permits. But the end of the legislative left so many things hanging fire, that this sport has been passed up, although the governor still takes to it just as soon as he gets away into the country or down the Jersey coast for a little vacation.

Whenever the pressure of business becomes too great, he always calls up "Ma" Smith on the phone and tells her he will be late. For although her husband may be governor, she doesn't like to keep dinner waiting for him now anymore than she did when he was in the trucking business in New York.

In Minot he gave the assurance that there was a better investment than North Dakota land. He was delighted with the drenching rain and found conditions north of Minot looking exceptionally fine.

AN OLD MAN'S DARLING

By Albert Apple

The funniest thing in history is how a pretty woman made a fool of Aristotle, the ancient Greek philosopher, in his old age.

His job was tutor and guardian of Alexander the Great, who "conquered the world" and died when he was 42.

Lovely woman was Alexander's weakness. He has paused in his career to worship at the shrine of an adventuress.

Chided by Aristotle, Alexander mockingly said: "Sighing, alone he cried, as inly moved."

"Alas! These man, me seems, have never loved."

The philosopher won out, however, Alexander jilted his sweetheart. She managed to get to him, learned why her lover had abandoned her. Burning for revenge, she set her traps.

Details are somewhat lacking as to what followed. But it wound up with Aristotle at the beauty's feet, his wisdom flung to the four winds.

Her answer was that, before she would become the old man's darling, he must gratify her craving to mount and ride the back of the wisest man in the world.

Alexander, watching, soon saw her strap a saddle on Aristotle's back, fasten reins to him, mount and ride about the imperial gardens, Aristotle on all fours as he lumbered along with his precious burden.

When a white-haired philosopher made such a fool of himself, one doesn't wonder at the old boys of our generation whose affections and fancies get them on page one of the newspapers.

Aristotle, when he realized how he had been duped, admitted that youthful Alexander was crazy like a fox when he pursued feminine beauty.

"Love is master of mankind," agreed the aged man of wisdom.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT MON AMI:

It is a long time since you have seen those French words at the top of a letter, is it not? Or is it that having been used to seeing them very often in the long ago you have been lonesome for them, and so you have gotten another little French girl to write you long letters filled with love.

But no, I am sure she is not French, for the reason I am writing to you, the reason I know she is not from my land is that a friend of mine who wrote me the other day to tell me he had seen you very often dining with beautiful, vivacious women with hair of vivid red. French women, you know, rarely have red hair. Indeed, my friend said that she looked more like an Irish woman, that she had the Celtic vivacity of one.

Now you will be laughing at me. I know, but mon ami Jacques, I am writing to ask you not to do it. Don't make that beautiful wife of yours unhappy. Why, don't you know, haven't you found out yet, that she is the loveliest woman either you or I have ever known? Don't make her unhappy. And please don't write me that you could not make her unhappy because you are so fond of her, because once upon a time you told me that you were fonder of me than of any woman in the world, and because of you, soon after I was the unhappiest woman in all the world.

Jacques, do you know what that wife of yours did? She turned this whole world over for me from side to side, and she asked me to be the greatest sacrifice I was capable of giving, I did

down to the capitol the same time as the clerks. A morning's work at his desk and he goes home for luncheon, taking his secretary with him usually. Social and Personal

Anniversary Organ-Recital To Be Given

Prof. G. Calvin Ringgenberg, Professor at Jamestown college, will give an organ recital at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 8:30. The program, consisting of selections from Bach, Boccherini, Fletcher, Gullmunt, Nevin, Beethoven, and Viere, is as follows:

PART I

(a) Toccata and Fugue in D, Minor—Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750).

A toccata (Italian, toccare, to touch) originated in the seventeenth century and designed to show the technique of the organ. A fugue (Latin, fugere, to flee) is a composition in which a little tune is sung by one voice, and then by the others in turn.

(b) Pastorale in A from First Symphony—Alexander Felix Gullmunt (1837-1911).

Alexander Gullmunt, organist of the La Trinite, Paris, and founder of the Schola Cantorum in Paris, is one of the outstanding organists of the last generation and has published eight organ symphonies which have marked a great transition in organ music.

(c) Will-o-the-Wisp — Nevin (1892-).

Gordon Balch Nevin was born in Easton, Pa., and is the son of the eminent American composer, George B. Nevin. His organ compositions are numerous and this composition has achieved unusual popularity.

PART II

(a) Minuet in A—Luigi Boccherini (1734-1805).

Boccherini was born in Lucca, Italy, and at the age of fourteen was sent to Rome, where he rapidly acquired fame as a composer and as a performer on the violin. His fame rests chiefly on his skillfully written chamber music, in which he was unusually prolific, writing no less than 370 concerted numbers.

(b) Andante from the Fifth Symphony—Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827).

The Fifth Symphony is notable for its tremendous vigor and the simple means by which that vigor is obtained. The andante is built on two themes: the first, song-like, and the second a fanfare in which he develops these themes.

(c) Scherzo from the First Symphony—Viere.

Viere, the blind organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, in Paris, has written four great symphonies.

PART III

(a) Fountain Revery—Percy En Fletcher (1880-).

Fletcher was born in Derby in 1880 and is now living in London, where he is a violinist and musical director. The title of this piece is derived from the rippling accompaniment.

(b) "Jesu Bambino"—Pietro Yon.

(c) Fantasy on "Swing Low Sweet Chariot"—Carl R. Ditt.

Will Proceed To Organization Of Women Voters

The temporary board of directors of the local League of Women Voters met in the parlors of the Grand Pacific hotel this morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. Mrs. J. R. Parker, Regional Secretary of the 5th Region of the National organization, presided. Mrs. Parker briefly outlined the purposes of the board meeting and the duties of the various committees to be appointed. A letter was read from Miss Marguerite M. Wells, National Director of the 5th District of the League of Women Voters to the State Board of North Dakota relating to the program for the coming year. A motion was made and seconded that Mrs. Florence Davis act as temporary chairman for the permanent organization meeting to be held Friday evening, June 20.

The following names were selected to act on the three committees to perfect the permanent organization:

Constitutional committee—Mrs. G. F. Dillman, Miss Lila Dlessem, Mrs. E. B. Gorman.

Nominating Committee—Mrs. H. F. Keller, Mrs. Benton Baker, Miss Henricka Beach.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easily it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Electric Cookery is Better Cookery

No Time and Energy Wasted in Useless Labor With Electricity

HAVE you ever thought seriously of the freedom from hot-kitchen drudgery, the saving in time, and the economies in food and fuel which the Hotpoint Electric Range with its automatic operation and its perfect scientific cookery will bring to you?

You are spared endless scouring and polishing of pots and pans. Electric heat creates no dirt, soot, nor smoke to stain utensils and dirty up your kitchen.

The Electric Timer and Heat Control afford a dependable automatic operation that enables you to cook perfect meals without carefully watching the process. You don't even need to remain in the house if you don't want to.

The air-tight insulated oven—possible only with electric heat—prevents evaporation with its consequent shrinkage of foods and loss of flavor and food value. Heat is stored up for cooking after the current is turned off. None escapes. The kitchen stays cool and pleasant. There is no danger from fumes, matches or overheating.

If you will come in we will gladly demonstrate these advantages to you and show you a style of range particularly adapted to your needs.

Anniversary Organ-Recital To Be Given

Prof. G. Calvin Ringgenberg, Professor at Jamestown college, will give an organ recital at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 8:30. The program, consisting of selections from Bach, Boccherini, Fletcher, Guilmant, Nevin, Beethoven, and Vienne, is as follows:

PART I
(a) Toccata and Fugue in D. Minor—Johann Sebastian Bach 1685-1750.
A toccata (Italian, toccare, to touch) originated in the seventeenth century and designed to show the technique of the play. A fugue (Latin, fuga, a flight) is a composition in which a little tune is sung by one voice and then by the others in turn.

(b) Pastorale in A from First Symphony—Alexander Felix Guilmant (1837-1911).
Alexander Guilmant, organist of the La Trinite, Paris, and founder of the Schola Cantorum in Paris, is one of the outstanding organists of the last generation and has published eight organ symphonies which have marked a great transition in organ music.

(c) Will-o-the-Wisp—Nevin (1892-....).
Gordon Balch Nevin was born in Easton, Pa., and is the son of the eminent American composer, George B. Nevin. His organ compositions are numerous and this composition has achieved unusual popularity.

PART II
(a) Minuet in A—Luigi Boccherini (1734-1805).

Boccherini was born in Lucca, Italy, and at the age of fourteen was sent to Rome, where he rapidly acquired fame as a composer and as a performer on the violin. His fame rests chiefly on his skillfully written chamber music, in which he was unusually prolific, writing no less than 370 concerted numbers.

(b) Andante from the Fifth Symphony—Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827).
The Fifth Symphony is notable for its tremendous vigor and the simple means by which that vigor is obtained. The andante is built on two themes: the first, song-like, and the second a fanfare in which he develops these themes.

(c) Scherzo from the First Symphony—Vienne.
Vienne, the blind organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, in Paris, has written four great symphonies.

(Intermission)
(a) Fountain Revery—Percy EN Fletcher (1880-....).

Fletcher was born in Derby in 1880 and is now living in London, where he is a violinist and musical director. The title of this piece is derived from the rippling accompaniment.

(b) "Jeus Bambino"—Pietro Yon.
(c) Fantasy on "Swing Low Sweet Chariot"—Carl R. Ditt.

In the Philippine Islands, under the American flag, they're surveying "vast tracts" suitable for rubber plantations. The plantations will be planted, and they should be encouraged in every possible way. Out of every 100 pounds of rubber produced in the whole world, 80 pounds are used by Americans.

We are flirting with fate when we leave rubber growing to other nations almost entirely. If our supply of rubber were shut off by military or trade wars, autos wouldn't be the only things that'd have to be shelved.
Just look about you now, at the things made of rubber. It's a dangerous semi-monopoly to be in the hands of other nations.

MILLIONAIRE
You can be a millionaire for a day. In the most exclusive district of Boston, a millionaire's home has been purchased by Alexander Bannwart, who has an entirely new scheme for making money.

The mansion—including all its lavish furnishings, butlers, maids and other servants—is for rent by the day or even by the hour. The rental for an afternoon of bridge is $50. This fellow Bannwart is evidently a shrewd psychologist. Human nature is on his side. He is first in a field that will be widely developed. How easy it is to make money—if you have a new idea.

BROADWAY
The lure of Broadway is interfering with factories at the outskirts of New York City. Workers want jobs near the Gay White Way. Some are reported to have quit the factories because they got bored during lunch hour. A different sort of job near Broadway may pay less, but it's closer to excitement and gaiety.

This is human nature, and it is the thing that is preventing a general exodus of factories and mills from large cities to small towns. What percentage of the population—employers as well as employed—is more intent on a good time than old-fashioned work?

WAGES
England is working more, under the labor government. She has about a million unemployed. But this is a quarter million fewer than at the beginning of the year.

What's equally important to the English dinner-pail carrier is that the cost of living over there is only 70 per cent higher than before the war. In our country, living costs are more than twice as high as in 1914, despite lower estimates by corporation statisticians and others.

Wages, by the way, in the basic English industries rise or fall as the cost of living goes up and down. Organized labor takes care of that, has it written into its agreements with employers.

DANCER
Pavlov's salary for dancing is $10,000 a week, it's disclosed in a lawsuit.

She's overtaking the world's highest paid dancer—Mei Ran-Tan, the Chinaman. He gets $2500 a night—and in a country where unskilled labor is paid about 18 cents a day.

Mei Ran-Tan is only 24. He dances masquerading as a woman. Spurs all offers to show in America. Critics claim he is the finest dancer in history. We'd always credited Chinese with being very wise. But it seems they too, pay higher for educated feet than educated heads.

MEAT
Vegetarians have a novel new argument in this: The crops of seven-tenths of the tilled land of American farmers are fed to animals. Meat-eating is an expensive habit. The argument on the other side is that meat is concentrated vegetables.

Every one, however, should eat less meat in summer. It's a cold weather food. In warm weather nature intends us to eat vegetables, particularly leafy ones. That's why she grows them in summer instead of winter.

YOU
Ever crave to buy a patch of ground in the country and become more or less independent by growing your own food? How much land would you need? That'd depend on what you grew. But American farmers now are tilling about three and a quarter acres of land for every man, woman and child of the population.

The farmer with many acres can figure how many people he's supporting.

COURAGE
The first New York movie theater of opera house size and with a complete orchestra instead of a lone piano player or electric organ was the Mark Strand. That took courage. For other managers predicted failure.

The Mark Strand is still doing business with 53 orchestra men, and has a record of 60 million paid admissions.

This illustrates the value of other people's opinions.

COTTON
The available supply of cotton favors the southern growers. Traders in New Orleans estimate that the cotton carry-over at the end of the season, July 31, will be between 1,600,000 and 2,000,000 bales. The carry-over on the same date in 1923 was 2,753,000 bales.
And the price end of the law of supply and demand works 24 hours a day.

The Philippines want independence so they can have oil scandals and things all their own.

Supporters contribute money to campaign funds in America, but in Mexico they contribute ammunition.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A GREAT FISH AND GAME PRESERVE

Among the bills that passed Congress just prior to its adjournment was a bill creating the Mississippi Fish and Game Refuge. This measure will create a fish and game preserve, nearly 300 miles in length from Wabash, Minn., to Rock Island, Ill.

The purpose of the bill is to prevent the drainage on both sides of the river of much swampy land, which is held to be the greatest fish breeding grounds in the United States. Drainage projects which would be uncertain for crops and would destroy the breeding of fish and wild fowl, will not be permitted under the terms of the bill. The area included in this strip of river and swamp land is about 345,000 acres. It is especially adapted for warm water fish, like bass. Fishing except for rough fish, and hunting will be prohibited on this preserve which will become one of the great fish and game refuge regions in the United States. Sportsmen organizations throughout the country approved of the measure, which provides for the acquisition by the federal government of the tract required.—Jamestown Alert.

WHY A TIME LIMIT?

During the closing days of Congress, the House Committee on Insular Affairs approved a bill providing for a larger autonomy for the Philippine people. In this bill it was also provided that at the end of 30 years the Philippine should have the opportunity of determining by a plebiscite whether they would remain a part of this country or set up an independent government, but the Committee amended this provision so that it would grant absolute independence to the Philippines after 20 years, if the Filipinos desired independence at that time.

Why a time limit? If the American people had said, when they first acquired the Philippines, that in 20 years they would grant independence they would have been mistaken in their opinion of the Filipinos being fully prepared to govern themselves. Recent reports of Americans who have investigated the Philippine situation, shows that the Filipinos are not prepared today for absolute independence.

Instead of fixing a time for independence it would be far better for this country to grant the Filipinos every reasonable leeway in the operation of their government, but to withhold independence until there is a very evident united feeling among the Filipinos themselves in favor of independence, and until they have fully demonstrated their ability to govern themselves.

That time may come earlier than expected and still again it may be delayed indefinitely. With a fair beginning already made and with the government set up over them by the United States, the development may, however, be more rapid than it has been in the past.

But why promise something on a fixed date unless we are certain that it can be carried out? Judging from the past, it would be better to grant the Filipinos greater freedom of action as they merit it, and reserve the decision regarding independence until such time as we are reasonably sure that a stable government will continue after our withdrawal from the islands.—Fargo Forum.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up, the fairy, held tightly to the stork's long sharp beak while he carried them away from the tulip field over a lovely country with grass so green it looked like paint in a picture.

And the sky above was so blue and the clouds so big and white and fluffy, too, looked like paint.

"Holland looks like a picture," doctored it," remarked Nancy, looking down as they sailed through the air high above the tree tops.

"Yes," answered the stork. "When I leave my other home in Africa to fly north for the summer, you can't blame me for picking out such a lovely country as Holland. And the people are so kind, too! They always watch for our coming and never throw stones at us, the children, look!"

"Oh, look!" cried Nick. "What are those big things with wheels on top?"

"Those are wind-mills," said the stork.

"And what are all those creeks for?" asked Nancy, pointing downward. "They're so straight they look as though they had been drawn with a ruler, and they cross each other like the marks on a checkerboard."

"Those are canals," explained the stork. "Holland is low and very watery. The people dig canals to let the water run away, then their fields are dry enough to farm."

"I see a lot of cows," said Nick next. "There seem to be cows everywhere."

"Of course," answered the stork. "Cows give milk and milk makes cheese. The people of Holland make enough cheese to feed the whole world almost—and still have enough left over for the mice. Those houses yonder are dairies where they make the cheese."

"Say," said Johnny Jump Up admiringly. "You know a lot don't you, Mister Stork? Why, you are better than a geography book."

"Seeing the world is always better than studying a book," said the stork wisely. "And I am a much-traveled person."

"Are we much-traveled persons?" asked Nancy curiously.

"Well," said the stork thoughtfully, "I should say you were. And by the time my friend the titmouse takes you to some more countries you ought to know enough to get into college. Or high school, anyway."

"What's that wall for?" asked Nick, pointing down to a place where the land stopped and the sea began. A high wall ran along the shore as far as they could see.

"We're at the seashore, and that's a dyke," said the stork. "The sea came up and spoiled the land sometimes and the people couldn't make things grow. So they built this dyke many years ago to keep the sea out. You'll never see another one anywhere just like it! But we must go. The titmouse will be waiting for you on the roof to take you home."

And, sure enough, there he was. "Your tickets said 'there and back,'" he remarked, "so we must be returning to the magic garden."

"Goodbye," they said to the stork, hopping, all three of them, on the plump little bird's back.

Away they flew over the ocean toward the sunset, leaving Holland and the stork far behind.

AN OLD, OLD TUNE

Note—The following poem was written by James W. Foley and printed in the Pasadena Evening Post, after Mr. Foley's return to California from Bismarck, where he attended the Rotary conference in April.

I am back from old Dakota, from her prairies vast and wide,
Back from old Dakota, where I met and laughed and cried
With friends of mine in olden days, when all of us were young.
When dreams were sweet and life was glad and boyhood songs were sung.

Back from old Dakota, where they greeted me with snow.
Snow in flowery April, when the blossoms ought to blow.
And I heard in early morning, as I've often heard of yore,
The scraping of the shovel on the coal bin floor.

It was all so familiar, as I heard it at the dawn,
Way down there in the basement, where they piled the fuel on.
For years I had not heard it, but I knew it, at a sound.
And there without my window was the white snow on the ground.

It brought me back my boyhood and my school days and the bin
That all through the winter days and nights we kept the fuel in.
And when by early morning light, and often times before,
I scraped that old coal shovel on the coal bin floor.

Like some old bit of music that I had not heard for long
It brought me back a dream of old and many a boyhood song.
And many a recollection sweet, and many a smile and tear,
The scraping of that shovel as it felt upon my ear.
It brought me frosty Christmases and wild fowl on the wing,
And feathery flakes that filled the air and crocuses in spring.
And I was turned and mitted on the way to school once more
With the scraping of that shovel on the coal bin floor.

Albany, N. Y., June 12.—Governor "All" Smith likes to walk to work. It is the one form of recreation he is sure of getting these days.

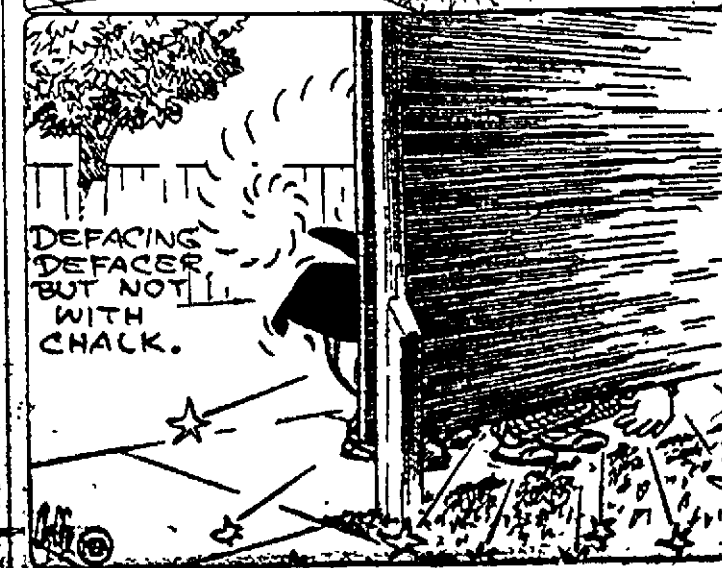

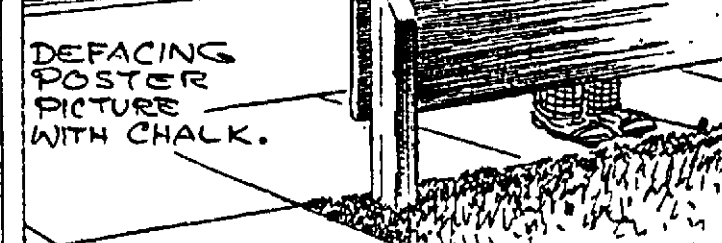

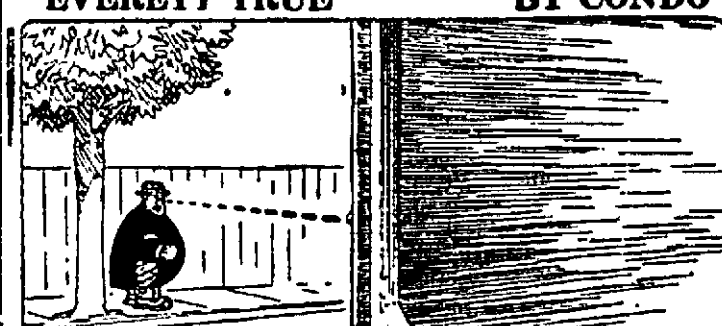

For the stress of state business and the approach of the Democratic convention have cut in on his other favorite diversions—golfing, playing with the animals in his children's zoo and watching the movies.

The showing of these pictures takes place in the large sitting room of the executive mansion two or three times a week. Among the audience is the Smith family, the mansion employees and young Walter Smith's friends. They never miss a laugh. Neither does the governor when he gets the chance to be there.

For "All" Smith loves a wholesome laugh and gives many—with his inimitable stories.
He gets up in the morning with a song on his lips, shaves himself, has a homey breakfast, stops a while to play with his children's pet in the back-yard menagerie, and goes

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

AN OLD MAN'S DARLING

By Albert Apple

The funniest thing in history is how a pretty woman made a fool of Aristotle, the ancient Greek philosopher, in his old age.

His job was tutor and guardian of Alexander the Great, who "conquered the world" and died when he was 42.

Lovely woman was Alexander's weakness. He has paused in his career to worship at the shrine of an adventuress.

Chided by Aristotle, Alexander mockingly said:

"Sighing, alone he cried, as I only moved:

"Alas! These men, me seems, have never loved."

The philosopher won out, however, Alexander jilted his sweetheart. She managed to get to him, learned why her lover had abandoned her. Burning for revenge, she set her traps.

Details are somewhat lacking as to what followed. But it wound up with Aristotle at the beauty's feet, his wisdom flung to the four winds.

Her answer was that, before she would become the old man's darling, he must gratify her craving to mount and ride the back of the wisest man in the world.

Alexander, watching, soon saw her strap a saddle on Aristotle's back, fasten reins to him, mount and ride about the imperial gardens, Aristotle on all fours as he lumbered along with his precious burden.

When a white-haired philosopher made such a fool of himself, one doesn't wonder at the old boys of our generation whose affections and fancies get them on page one of the newspapers.

Aristotle, when he realized how he had been duped, admitted that youthful Alexander was crazy like a fox when he pursued feminine beauty.

"Love is master of mankind," agreed the aged man of wisdom.

LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MON AMI:

It is a long time since you have seen those French words at the top of a letter, is it not? Or is it that having been used to seeing them very often in the long ago you have been lonesome for them, and so you have gotten another little French girl to write you long letters filled with love words.

But no, I am sure she is not French, for the reason I am writing to you, the reason I know she is not from my land is that a friend of mine who wrote me the other day to tell me he had seen you very often dining with a beautiful, vivacious woman with hair of vivid red. French women, you know, rarely have red hair. Indeed, my friend said that she looked more like an Irish woman, that she had the Celtic vivacity of one.

Now you will be laughing at me. I know, but mon ami Jacques, I am writing to ask you not to do it. Don't make that beautiful wife of yours unhappy. Why, don't you know, haven't you found out yet, that she is the loveliest woman either you or I have ever known? Don't make her unhappy. And please don't write me that you could not make her unhappy because you are so fond of her, because once upon a time you told me that you were fond of me more than of any woman in the world, and because of you, soon after I was the unhappiest woman in all the world.

Jacques, do you know what that wife or yours did? She turned this whole world over for me from sodden gray into soft gold. Although she asked of me the greatest sacrifice I was capable of giving, I did make that sacrifice—I gave her my boy, my own boy, the boy for whom I not only went through hell, that hell that comes to all women when they give birth to a life, but for whom I starved and for whom my soul travelled.

When I came back east last spring I had made up my mind that in some way I should have that child back. I knew I had no legal right to him, but I fully expected that rather than have a scandal you would give him to me. If it had not been for your wife, Jacques, I would have done this, but she was so sweet to me, while all the while ignoring the fact which she knew perfectly well that I was the baby's mother, she gave me a chance to be alone with him, to hold his face to my breast, to let his little face snugle down in my neck. She made all these childish women in the town where you and I had been together over so unkindly, be nice to me.

For the first time I knew what it meant to have a woman treat me as she herself would like to be treated; for women, my dear Jacques, have always either envied or hated me; and in either case they have made me suffer for their unpleasurable emotions. So I gave my boy to her, because I knew it would hurt her if I took him away.

Jacques, because of me the greatest sacrifice a woman can make for a man, and in turn I am asking you to make a little sacrifice not only for a woman who once loved you, but for the woman who loves you better than her life at present—I saw it in your wife's eyes. Don't sadden her life, Jacques. It's the only favor that will ever be asked by

Brandon Plans Big Exposition

Following the practice started last year Manitoba's Provincial Exhibition will be early in July—in fact the opening day is June 30th.

For the opening day a thrilling program of Automobile Races is being provided. Anyone who likes these races (and who does not admire speed and daring) could not do better than be on hand for the opening day.

Tuesday, July 1st, is Dominion Day, when the finest program of running races ever presented at Brandon will be played. It consists of five events with a long entry list already assured.

The last day, Friday, July 4th, is being combined as United States and Traveller's Day. There will be a large parade of decorated cars and floats nearly a mile long, headed by the Starkweather Band and animals from the Johnny J. Jones Shows.

DEAFNESS OVERCOME BY AMAZING INVENTION

Thousands Deaf For Years Now Hear Perfectly

An amazing invention which enables anyone whose auditory nerve is still active to hear the slightest sound as clearly and distinctly as a person whose hearing is natural is announced by the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 1807-F, 220 W. 42nd Street, New York City. The manufacturers are so proud of their achievement and so confident that every one who is hard of hearing will be amazed and delighted with results that they are offering to send it on ten days free trial. They require no deposit or advance payment of any kind, but will refund the full cost of the device free of charge if the user is not satisfied in any degree. Take advantage of this liberal free trial offer. Send them your name and address today.—Adv.

FOR INACTIVE KIDNEYS

When the kidneys are in need of a good flushing take FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys. They promptly and effectively flush the kidneys, increase their activity and bring pleasant relief. London Taylor, Rochester, Iowa, writes:

"I can truthfully say that FOLEY PILLS are the best I ever used. I had lots of trouble with my kidneys and there I couldn't get anything but back was to wash. Every morning I was dazed, could hardly walk, but now I feel fine."—Adv.

JUDGE KENYON IS SILENT

Declines to Make Known Attitude on Vice-Presidency If Tendered

St. Paul, June 12.—Federal Judge W. S. Kenyon, sitting in the circuit court of appeals here, declared this afternoon that he was not and never has been a candidate for the Vice-Presidential nomination.

His judicial position, Judge Kenyon declared, made it impossible for him even to discuss what his probable action would be should the Cleveland convention nominate him as President. Coolidge's running mate, he said, however, he was confident that he would not be nominated.

MAJORITY FOR PAINELEVE

Paris, June 12.—Paul Painleve, president of Chamber of Deputies, received 306 and Gaston Doumergue, president of the Senate, 142 votes, in the caucus of the party of the left, held today to select a candidate for the presidency of the Republic.

Economy In Car Ownership

"What makes it expensive or economical to own and operate a car?" asks W. E. Lahr of Lahr Motor Sales Co.

"Not altogether the car specifications," says Mr. Lahr in answering his own question. "Isn't it rather the degree of efficiency with which the local dealer puts at the command of the motorist the things which make daily car operation expensive or economical?"

"The efficient car dealer can do as much to reduce the cost of car operation as the manufacturers have done to reduce the cost of car ownership."

At The Movies

THE ELTINGE

Broadway knows no closed season. Continuous is its life; its pulse beats ceaselessly. At all hours of the night, as of the day, it swallows up its millions of pleasure-seeking votaries, and vomits them out of its theatres, cafes and dance halls. But it never closes. How it moves, and what sort of life it lives, is shown in "Broadway After Dark," the screen version of the Owen Davis melodrama, which will play at the Eltinge Theatre Friday and Saturday. The picture is an honest attempt to reveal via the screen the soul of the world's greatest city, to show that beneath the outward glare and glamour of the Great White Way human hearts and impulses are the same as on "Main-Street."

AT THE CAPITOL

Bad Osborne, one time cowboy and rodeo artist, boasts that he expects to ride to his final rest on a "buckin' pony." As Gordon Orme, the pivot character in the Pathé picture, "The Way of a Man," adapted from Emerson Hough's popular novel of that name, Osborne is called upon to give a number of riding exhibitions.

"The Way of a Man" tells the story of early settlers crossing the Arizona desert into the heart of the California goldfields. Others in the cast besides Osborne are: Allen Ray, Harold Miller, Chet Ryan, Whitehorse, Kathryn Appleton and numerous tribes of Indians from Government Reservation at Fort McJannet. It will be shown tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

Dakota G. A. R. Names Officers

Devils Lake, June 12. T. C. Conklin of Minot was elected state department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of North Dakota at the 35th annual encampment here today. Other officers elected were: Senior vice-commander, E. E. Sparks, Devils Lake; junior vice-commander, P. A. Cooney, Lisbon; medical director, D. G. Duell, Devils Lake; chaplain, George C. Hall, Minnewaukan; delegate-at-large to national encampment, George Hawkes, Fargo, and alternate, J. G. Ashelman, Fargo.

HONORS AWARDED

Mayville, June 12.—First place in the annual declamation contest held at the State Normal and Industrial school in Ellendale, June 9, was won by Fern Miller of Kalin, reading "The Swan Song" by K. R. Brooks. Carroll Day of Slope Center, won second place, reading "Sparticus to the Gladiators," by Kellogg, while Ruth Ellis, of Pinegrove, won third place giving as her selection "The Revolt of Mother," by Mary E. Wilkins.

Miss Miller also took part in the annual recital given at the State Normal and Industrial school, Tuesday evening, June 10. The program consisted of piano, glee club and vocal selections.

Others who took part in the contest were: Edith Hutzler, William Dickhoff, Theodore Mallach, Norma Hoel and Frances Hathaway.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS According to the Neighbor BY BLOSSER

"The Athens"—Two Homes in One

A Charming Duplex House That Will Pay for Itself
This type of double house, which is really two houses separated by a party wall, has become very popular in the Philadelphia district. It has an advantage over the two-flat house in that neither tenant is annoyed by the noise of strangers overhead, for each tenant occupies both floors on either side of the house. The Athens is economical in that because there is less space taken up by stairs and passages. Both sides of the party wall are built exactly alike so only one of the two homes will be described. The first floor has a very splendid living room, 12 by 17 feet, facing the street and having three large windows on the street side. Entrance to the dining room is gained both from the living room and from the kitchen. This room has two windows and a rear entrance. Entrance to the house is from a porch situated on the side of the building. Just inside the door are the stairs to the upper floor and also a closet. The upper floor has two large bedrooms, one smaller bedroom and the usual bathroom. Three closets are distributed at advantageous points. The whole arrangement of the interior is one that is sure to please and secure comfort at all times. This house should be built on a lot 75 feet in width. As in other houses built for investment, concrete will be found to be good because of its economy in first cost and everlasting enduring qualities. The walls of the house may be built of smooth faced concrete block up to the second story and a rough cast portland cement stucco is used for the second story. The roof is covered with concrete roofing tile, and porches and pillars of concrete insure permanence and weather resistance to exposed points. This attractive house will have a low tenant turnover and will be the source of steady revenue to its owner, with very little maintenance.
